Menon (Director of Public Instruction): Mr. President, Sir, before I proceed to place the budget estimates of my department before the House, permit me on my own behalf and on behalf of the services that I represent to convey to you the most hearty felicitations on your elevation to this office. In spite of the fact that you have maintained without the least effort the dignity of the Chair, we cannot help feeling that we have in the Chair today one who is very much like an elder brother which considerably facilitates the quick and easy despatch of the work.

Sir, I find that I have on the whole to deal with 32 cut motions
